Public Meeting Next Wednesday to Discuss Refinancing Public Education

Public schools in New Jersey are financed by taxes on your property—at least, they are now. But the State Supreme Court has ordered the legislature to come up with a new way of financing public school education by December 31 of this year—only 11 months away.

The two big questions are—what's the legislature likely to do? And how will it affect "us", whether "us" is Princeton or Salem County?

A public meeting on the subject will be held next Wednesday, January 23, at 8 p.m. in John Witherspoon School. Everybody in Princeton—or elsewhere, for that matter—is invited to come, listen and ask questions.

The meeting has been organized by the League of Women Voters, with the joint sponsorship of Princeton's school board and the PTA-POT organizations.

Just as a start, here's one aspect of the financing situation in New Jersey. Every child in the Princeton school system is backed by $93,522, compared to a state average of $46,291—and an average down in Cumberland County of about $27,000.

These are old figures from the 1971-72 school year, but they're the most up-to-date the state can provide. Today, the dollar amount for Princeton is probably close to $100,000. (The figure stands for the full valuation of property, divided by the number of kids in a school district). The wildly-swinging difference between New Jersey communities, of course, is one of the reasons the Supreme Court ordered the law-makers to change the system.

What the Supreme Court actually said, was that the present way of financing public education by property taxes is unconstitutional—according to New Jersey's constitution, not the U.S.

Constitution—because it doesn't provide a "thorough and efficient" system of public education for each child as the constitution requires.

To provide every child with such an education, in drawing up new laws, the court said, the legislature can take into account the differences in cost of living in various areas of New Jersey, the additional money it takes to educate disadvantaged kids, and so on.

The court also said—and this applies particularly to Princeton—that a district can add its own tax dollars to whatever the state allots. This amount is called "leeway."

Well, are Princeton taxpayers going to have to pay more than they do now?

What's the new legislature—overwhelmingly Democratic—inclined to do?

Are we going to get a state income-tax after all?

What's this about a state property tax?

Teachers have a powerful union—will the new state money end up in teachers' salaries?

Will Princeton have to cut back its own school system to shore up urban or rural districts?

What is "thorough and efficient" education, anyway, and who decides?

Four panelists will probably talk about these questions Wednesday night. The speakers are John Ewing, a Republican who used to be chairman of the Assembly's Education Committee and is still a member; Albert Burstein, a Democrat who changed places with Mr. Ewing and is now chairman of the committee; Richard Moore of the New Jersey Education Association and Eugene Keyek from the New Jersey School Boards Association. Mary Tanner of the League, will moderate.

"I'm not pushing any one plan for school financing," emphasizes Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, "but I urge people to go to this meeting—whatever the legislature does will have immediate and long-term effects, and we ought to have a 'say'."

If the 1972 income-tax state proposals had passed, Mayor Cawley estimates the Borough taxpayer would have had a net decrease of one percent in property taxes. But of course, the income-tax would have been imposed on top of that.

"Very low-income people in the Borough, especially the elderly, would have substantial relief, with a state income-tax," the mayor believes, "but others would pay more."

As for a state property-tax-----"catastrophe!" the mayor exclaims. He points to home-owners in the John-Witherspoon Street area who have low salaries, but a relatively high valuation on their properties.

Mayor Cawley also looks at broader questions of school financing.

"How do you decide how much to spend on schools?" he asks, "what kinds of quality do you shoot for, and if the state is paying the bill, how much local autonomy do you get?"

Princeton is in the top ten percent in the state for school expenditure, says Herbert Starkey, consultant in school finance to the State Board of Education and the Commissioner of Education.

Again, he's using 1971-72 figures, but the percentage probably hasn't changed. His figures show $1,518 per pupil, compared to a state-wide figure of $1,021. (This is the net current expenses figure and doesn't include such expenses as debt service or capital outlay.)

Today's Princeton figure is at least

Carp Murder Trial Given Watergate Overtones As Detective Admits Burning Subpoenaed Report

At any other time the testimony of Princeton Township Detective Samuel Bianco might have been just a ripple in the long course of a murder trial. But coming as it did, on the sixth long day of a trial that had been less dramatic than its billing, and coming at a time when the public's sense of indignation has been heightened by Watergate, Det. Bianco's testimony that he had burned a 60-page report rather than comply with a subpoena from the defense became the biggest news of the week in the Carpi murder trial.

Gerald R. Stockman, attorney for accused murderer Colin C. Carpi, of 148 Fairway Drive, conducted a lengthy cross examination of Det. Bianco Monday that cast what had to be considered serious doubts on the thoroughness of the investigation by Township Police at the time of Mrs. Laura Carpi's disappearance February 8, 1971.

Pacing the floor of the Mercer County Superior Court, Mr. Stockman settled against a railing at the far side of the room, diagonally across from Mr. Bianco. The attorney asked the detective about a 60-page report prepared in 1971 by a private detective firm hired by the parents of Mrs. Carpi. Mr. Stockman then produced a copy of a subpoena served on Mr. Bianco, asking him to bring "any and all" reports dealing with the case to a pre-trial hearing February 9 of last year.

"You knew since 1971 of my interest in the Mitchell-Dolan report, Mr. Bianco," said Mr. Stockman, his voice rising. "Where was that report?"

"In the bottom of my desk drawer, under some papers," replied the detective. "Did you read it?" asked Stockman. "No, just a few pages."

Sharp Reaction. "Did you appear in court February 9 and bring the Mitchell report?"

"No sir."

"Why not?"

"Because I had burned it," Det. Bianco said matter of factly, as the audience of 50 spectators gasped in reaction. "That morning," he continued.

Burning Issue. Mr. Stockman walked back to his chair at the defense table and soon changed the line of questioning. Assistant Mercer County Prosecutor Richard Altman interceded to argue that the question of the detective reports was being argued in court, and that eventually, last December, the defense was given access to another copy of the same report.

Mr. Carpi's attorney sprang

Detective Samuel Bianco

back to the offensive. "You could've been burning a man's life, couldn't you, Det. Bianco?"

"It's possible," was the detective's reply.

The trial recessed for Tuesday because of prior commitments of Judge Arthur A. Salvatore and the prosecutor. It was scheduled to resume Wednesday morning with Det. Bianco facing more cross-examination from Mr. Stockman.

Intimately Involved. At the conclusion of the first six days of testimony, Prosecutor Altman had established that

This Is Princeton

Mrs. Carpi was afraid of her estranged husband, a self-employed investment counselor, and that she had invited a woman friend to spend a night with her shortly before her disappearance. William Moskowitz, a Somerville optometrist who described his relationship with Mrs. Carpi as "close and intimately involved," testified that he talked by telephone with her the morning of February 8 and hung up at 8:47 or 8:48 a.m.

Ralph Mason, senior partner of the Princeton law firm that had been representing Mrs. Carpi in her legal battle with the defendant for custody of the four Carpi children, testified that Mr. Carpi told him he had been at her rented home at 213 State Road at about 9:30 that morning to deliver a support check. When Mr. Mason went to the house that night, he found the dining room rug missing and a mop in the sink.

Detective Bianco testified that he noticed marks on the face and hands of Mr. Carpi when he talked to him two days after the disappearance. The detective also was questioned carefully on the defendant's reaction after police had finally ascertained that the body found floating in the East River was Mrs. Carpi's. Mr. Carpi was told of the identification and of the bullet at 1:25 a.m. July 23, 1971, when police came to his house on Fairway Drive with a search warrant.

Mr. Altman asked what Mr. Carpi had said when the search warrant was presented and he had been told his wife had been murdered. "He had just woken up," said Mr. Bianco. "He had no change in demeanor. He just said, 'you are welcome to look through the house.'"

Physical Condition. "Did you find anything in the house to indicate to you Mr. Carpi's physical condition?" asked the prosecutor.

"We saw various pieces of hiking gear and some barbells," said Mr. Bianco, who estimated he spent 600 to 1,000 hours on the case.

"How much weight was on the barbells?"

"Two-hundred pounds." The prosecution contends Mrs. Carpi was shot, her body wrapped in the rug, carried to a car, and then transported to New York.

Still No Error. Damning as such circumstantial evidence might have been, Mr. Altman had not yet produced an inkling as to the "grievous error" that he contends Mr. Carpi made in what otherwise would have been "the perfect murder." Mr. Stockman, on the other hand, appeared to have raised considerable testimony in support of his contention that the police investigation was influenced by members of Mr. Mason's law firm, two of whom had been involved with the Township Police also through their position as Township prosecutor.

Under questioning from Mr. Stockman, Det. Bianco testified that three members of the Mason law firm, as well as fellow Detective Norman Servis, accompanied him when he first entered Mrs. Carpi's house the day after her disappearance. He was asked if any of the others had disturbed the stack of mail inside the door—evidence considered crucial since the mailman made his delivery after Mr. Carpi said he delivered the support check.

"Not that I can recall," Det. Bianco replied. "They may have."

Mr. Stockman asked what the other members of the party were doing while Det. Bianco was searching the rooms of the house. "They were just milling around. I didn't notice," said Mr. Bianco.

"Just Came Along." The youthful defense attorney pressed the point. "What were they doing there anyhow?" replied Mr. Bianco: "They just came along, you know. As far as I know, Mr. Hartmann (John A. III of the Mason firm) was Mrs. Carpi's attorney."

In direct testimony, Mr. Bianco had said that analysis of Mr. Carpi's cars had turned up no blood or other possible evidence, but that the examinations did not take place until several months

where would the difference come from?

"We hope the legislature won't try to define 'thorough' and 'efficient' by legislation," says Marian Epstein of Princeton, a member of the State Board of Education.

Board members, with education people from all over
New Jersey, held a two-day workshop last fall to define "thorough and efficient." A book-size first draft will be discussed in February and then,

"We're 'going public' to ask people all over the state what they think."

"What we're doing," Mrs.
Epstein explains, "is to define the planning process local districts will have to follow.
Yes—it means an increase in the state's role."

For example, to meet the
"thorough and efficient" standard, a district might have to plan vocational education, continue its commitment to racial balance. Or, districts might be required to establish their own goals, and submit their plans for meeting these goals. There would, however, still be local control.

This week, as the new governor Brendan Byrne prepared to assume office, a deputy state treasurer was appointed. He's Clifford A.
Goldman, and he has a masters from the Woodrow Wilson School and expects his doctorate from Princeton University this year. His assignment from the state is to work out the school financing plan that will meet Supreme Court requirements.

"Ultimately," warns Mayor Cawley, "towns that have money are going to have to pay."

after the disappearance, during which time the defendant had "possession and control" of the vehicles.

On cross examination, Mr.
Stockman determined that the detective had interviewed Mr.
Carpi five or six times. "He never in the course of that investigation ever denied you anything, right? Did you ever ask to look at the cars?" Mr.
Bianco said that the defendant had invited him to examine the ears but that he had not done so.

The attorney then asked Mr.
Bianco to read a missing persons report that he had written to the State Police two days after Mrs. Carpi's disappearance. In it the detective reported that Mrs.
Carpi was in a custody battle with her husband, and that

Mr. Carpi had threatened her life in the presence of her lawyers prior to her disappearance February 8, at about 8:50 a.m.

Attorneys' Information:
"Who did you get that information from, detective?"
Mr. Bianco replied, "Some of it from the attorneys."

"Some or all of it?" Mr.
Stockman asked

"All of it except the time of her disappearance."

Mr. Stockman retorted:
"You suspected Colin Carpi of this crime as far back as February 10, didn't you?"

Mystery Car. Mr. Bianco said he didn't, and then was asked why he put the implication in the report. "I don't know," he replied. "I needed something so I just put it in."

Mr. Stockman led the detective through a series of questions, determining that a neighbor of Mrs. Carpi, Mrs.
Joanne Benuit, stated on February 12 that she thought she saw a light colored foreign car parked on Mrs. Carpi's front lawn between 8:30 and 9
the morning of her disappearance.

Det. Bianco never included the information in his written report, however, because "We just couldn't put the car at the scene the way she did on that particular day." Mr. Bianco indicated that Mr. Carpi told him that his car had been near the house later that morning and that he doubted the witness's credibility. Also he said he had checked the front lawn the day after the disappearance and noticed no tire tracks or foot marks.

"Wasn't there a conversation that you couldn't trace footprints anywhere because people had been tromping around?" asked Mr.
Stockman in reference to the attorneys' presence. Mr.
Bianco said he couldn't remember.

"You don't know today whether there was a foreign car in front of Mrs. Carpi's house that day, do you?" Mr.
Stockman asked. "No," the detective replied.

MORE ON "IDA"

At Planning Board. Citizens opposed to an Institute for Defense Analyses building in the Township are scheduled for a third 1974 pass before a Princeton municipal body: the Princeton Regional Planning Board, this Wednesday at 8 p.m.

They will appear for a fourth time when they attend the board's February 6 meeting. Hans K. Sander—re-elected chairman—has told the citizens the board won't act until that meeting on IDA's revised site plan, although the plan is on this Wednesday's agenda.

IDA's original site plan required the Thanet Corporation, owner of the property, to go back to the planning board, chiefly for approval of drainage. By opening this Wednesday's meeting to the public (it was scheduled originally as an executive session), and postponing final action until February, the board is giving opponents a chance to study site-plan revisions and make comments.

Opponents, chiefly neighbor of the Terhune Road site, have already presented their case before Township Committee (January 7) and the planning board (January 9).

At the January 9 meeting, the board was prepared to hear a report on subdivision approval for Thanet, a different technical matter from site plan approval for IDA's building.

But protesting citizens, raising the questions of flooding control, drainage and environmental protection they had raised two nights before at Township Committee, questioned IDA site plans with the planning board for over three hours.

In a telephone conversation last Friday, two days after the meeting, Mr. Sander assured Robert Hosford, 430 Terhune, a leader of the opponents, that the building inspector can't give IDA a building permit until IDA has final site plan approval.

Although opposition to IDA has taken an environmental turn, the philosophical objections have not been set aside. In a long letter to Township Committee, Steve Slaby of the Citizens in Search of Peace, continues the Citizens' charges against IDA of weapons research.

Mr. Slaby quotes an IDA recruiting advertisement in Scientific American for November, 1972, which he says offered positions to those with experience in "tactical systems, strategic systems, sea warfare, weapons effects and advanced sensors."

The Citizens say that IDA's top-secret classification means the Township cannot know what goes on inside the proposed building. He also suggests that allowing IDA will set precedents and continue to divide the community.

CLEAN UP!

Eating Places Inspected. Two public eating places and a private club have been given only "conditional satisfactory" ratings as a result of recent inspections by the Borough Board of Health.

Princeton University's dining halls, which failed to receive "satisfactory" late last fall, are due for re-inspection when the University opens after vacation.

The two restaurants are Aljon's, 157 Witherspoon, and Buxton's, 84 Nassau. The club is The Nassau Club, 6 Mercer St.

Board of Health inspectors, on December 27, left Aljon's with a two and one-half page list of violations. It includes such defects as a 50-degree temperature in the refrigerator—one of the more serious offenses by health code standards—accumulated food particles in the meat case, food stored in open containers, broken covering on a work table and litter around the premises outside. A re-inspection January 11 resulted in a continued "conditional."

The Nassau Club, also due for re-inspection, was found in mid-November to have glassware with food residue; dirt, grease and food debris on the floor under equipment, uncovered foods, utensils with burnt food sticking to the surface, a mixer coated with dirty food, spilled food on the floor.

Since the Nassau Club inspection, a private club elsewhere in the state has questioned the legality of such inspections in private clubs. The matter is in the attorney general's office at the moment.

"Satisfactory" is the highest rating. Harry's Luncheonette, 16½ Witherspoon, received "satisfactory" December 19 after a "delayed satisfactory" the day before. Housekeeping violations were cleaned up in the 24-hour period.

"Satisfactory" ratings have been given Princeton Theological Seminary (which received only "conditional" in late fall); Colonial, at Witherspoon and Spring; Pietrino's, Nassau Street; Jack and Jill, 261 Nassau; Tastebud, 382 Nassau; Cox Store, 182 Nassau, and the Coffee Shop of the Princeton Medical Center. Esquire Luncheonette, 258 Nassau, and the Princeton Tea Garden, 36 Witherspoon, now have "satisfactory" ratings after late fall designations of "conditional."

Buxton's, Pietrino's and the Colonial are inspected by state as well as Borough officials because they are near public transportation terminals.

BAD DAY ON LYTHE ST. For Borough Driver. When John R. Hart, 32, 256 John Street, lost control of his small foreign car Saturday afternoon on Lytle Street, his troubles were just beginning.

Ptl. Ronald Holliday and Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli responded to his call to headquarters for aid. Before they left, Hart had been charged with drunken and careless driving, assault and battery of a police officer, resisting arrest and possession of under 25 grams of marijuana.

If he was later released the same day on $350 bail. He is scheduled to appear in court Monday to answer the two motor vehicle charges and again on February 20 on the three criminal charges.

Hart had told police that his car had stalled and he lost control. According to the police investigation, his car jumped the curb, struck a tree and then continued on for another 75 feet before coming to rest in a small snow bank. Hart suffered small lacerations of both hands and

UNIVERSITY TO REOPEN

Resumes Monday. Princeton University will return to normalcy minus a few degrees this Monday. The fall term reading period, supposed to begin January 7 but delayed as a fuel-saving measure, will begin then. The University has received a definite fuel oil allocation from the Federal government and expects that it can complete its activities for the rest of the calendar year 1974 with no further interruptions, although temperatures will remain below 70 degrees in all buildings.

Princeton's decision became final this Monday when administrators changed the tapes on a bank of toll-free phones that were installed in Nassau Hall to keep students informed of the University's progress in the energy crisis.

Until about 4:30 Monday, anyone calling one of the toll-free numbers would hear a recorded voice saying that the University hoped to reopen January 21, but that the listener should call back to make sure. The new message said that the tentative date was now definite, and students would be allowed back into their dormitories anytime after 9:30 Saturday morning when the heat is scheduled to flow again.

The tentative calendar improvised last month in case the University did have to extend the Christmas vacation now is also definite. February 5. Its increase of examinations will run from January 30 through February 7, including Sunday, February 5. The mid-term recess will last only three days.

The spring term classes will start on February 11. Final exams in the second term will end June 3, two days later than originally scheduled. Graduation will not be affected by the energy crisis.

To wash the snowmen
Clean again

Inevitably, the snow that's been around for a week isn't anywhere near as clean as when it fell. What's more, the temperature has been rising slowly and there's the usual confusion over just what to expect.

Thursday is expected to bring precipitation in some form, with the thermometer turning downward again Friday. Partially sunny skies are forecast for the weekend. For a view of the possibility for skating on the lake, see page 15.

Makeshift Dorms. Temperatures in dormitories for the rest of this winter and next will be set at 68 degrees during the day with a setback during the middle of the night. Temperatures in work areas will range from 60 to 65 degrees.

A University spokesman estimated that about 600 students have already returned to campus for various academic and extracurricular commitments. They have been housed in the Princeton Inn College, the McCosh Infirmary, and in makeshift dormitories in Jadwin Gym, Caldwell Field House and Murray-Dodge.

BUDGET READY

For February Election. The vast and splendid chamber that is the Princeton High auditorium echoed Tuesday night to the public hearing on the school budget. It was attended by three reporters, three school board candidates and a couple of taxpayers, only one of whom spoke.

The $8,034,500 budget, down $62,800 from last year, will be voted on at the school election February 5. Its increase of eight-tenths of one percent is the smallest since school regionalization in 1966.

In spite of the small increase, the budget calls for $75,800 more in taxes. School board member Winthrop Pike pointed to the 29% drop in students and asked, "Why are expenditures up when there are fewer kids?" The answer:

salaries and increased costs. The budget assigns $388,500 more to these categories.

However, the "Instruction" account, which includes teacher salaries, is lower by $10,800, reflecting a drop in the staff of 23 people, which in turn reflects the drop of 291 students. Mr. Pike warned that the Princeton Regional Education Association will probably negotiate a salary increase, and he cited the difficulty in drawing up a budget when nobody knows what salary increases will be.

Princeton's low teacher-pupil ratio (1-13.5) is costly, he observed. So is the large number of older teachers on higher levels of the salary guide. Mr. Pike and the schools' administrative staff draw the praise of board member Philip Cruickshank for keeping the budget low and quiet.

The chief questioner was Mrs. Edna Hunter, who said one-eighth of the staff was assigned to children with learning or personality troubles. She told the board she had observed that these teachers didn't spend much time with students.

Board president Hannah Fox said special education is indeed costly, and she said that most specialists work with few children at a time.

CAR CRASH FATAL

To Harriette McLoughlin. Harriette McLoughlin, 19, was fatally injured Saturday near Cambridge, Vermont, when the car she was driving went out of control and struck a tree. Miss McLoughlin, who was alone in the car, suffered head injuries and died after being taken to the University of Vermont Hospital in Burlington.

Born in Princeton, she was employed at the Red Fox Ski Dormitory in Jeffersonville, Vermont. She had attended Miss Fine's School, Princeton Day School, Simon's Rock College in Great Barrington, Mass., and the University of Vermont.

Her father, John T. McLoughlin, of 37 Hodge Road, is president of the Vick Chemical Co. She also leaves her mother; three brothers, John T. Jr., of Washington, D.C., Hollis S. of Deerfield, Mass. and Peter C. of Hodge Road; and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. S.D. Hollis of Memphis, Tenn.

The funeral was held at Trinity Episcopal Church, with burial in All Saints Cemetery under direction of The Mather Funeral Home. Contributions in her memory may be made to the Pediatric Fund at the University of Vermont Hospital in Burlington.

YOUTH SURRENDERS

Involved in Armed Robbery. Larry Miller, 18, of Lytle Street, turned himself in at Borough police headquarters last week where he was charged with taking part in an armed robbery of a 17-year-old youth Christmas day on Witherspoon Street near the laundromat.

Chief Michael Carnevale said that Miller was the second person arrested in connection with the robbery in which the youth was allegedly threatened at knife point and relieved of $23. Miller was later released on $500 bail, pending action by a grand jury.

Det. Timothy Huizing has been conducting the investigation for the police.

Blackburn Again. William Blackburn, 47, no known address, was arrested again by Borough police Sunday for creating a disturbance in PJ's Pancake House on Nassau Street.

Police said that the oft-arrested Blackburn used loud and abusive language and had thrown cans of beer over the counter and restaurant area. They were summoned by manager William Westervelt.

Blackburn faces a court appearance January 23.

STALLED CAR ENTERED

Passenger Loses $200. Kandice L. Kruse, 14 Gedney Road, Lawrenceville, lost $200 when her purse was stolen Thursday afternoon from a car that was stalled on Stockton Road near Independence Drive.

The victim told police that she was a passenger in a car driven by Michael Perillo of Lawrence Township when their car ran out of gas at 3:30. Before they left to get aid, she placed her suede handbag containing a brown leather wallet on the floor of the car on the passenger's side. When they returned about an hour later, they noticed that the car's window had been broken and Miss Kruse's wallet was missing.

In other thefts, Township police report that a $50 tape recorder was stolen between 4:45 and 5 p.m. last week from the library at John Witherspoon School and that a sweater and seat and steering wheel cover were taken from a car parked in the Harrison Street project.

They identified the car owner as William D. Hounshell, 217-B Eisenhower Street. Total value of his loss: $70.

charged with careless driving Sunday after he struck two parked cars on Alexander Street near the Princeton Inn dorm. The mishap took place at 1:25 a.m.

Mr. Kuehler was treated for a laceration of the chin. A pedestrian, Randrino Oliver, 24, of Trenton, received a contusion of the thigh.

Mr. Kuehler told Ptl. James Vandemark that he had applied his brakes when he saw the headlights of another car approaching and the collision occurred.

The entire rear end of both parked cars were damaged. They were owned by Robert Garvin and Jessie Burns both of Trenton. Each was ticketed for a parking violation. The entire front end of the Kuehler car was damaged.

ONE GOOD TURN...

Does Not Bring Another. A 24-year-old Plainsboro woman was assaulted by a man last week who earlier had helped her get her car out of a tight parking space in Trenton.

The victim, an employee of the state's Division of Public Welfare in Trenton, told police that one of three men standing on the sidewalk around 5:45 took the wheel of her car parked in a Trenton lot and got the ear out.

When he then requested a ride to the Freeway, she demurred but later, after an argument, relented. However, upon reaching the Freeway the man, still at the wheel, told her he now wanted to go to the Jigger Shop in Lawrenceville and continued driving on U.S. 1. The victim told police later that she could smell liquor on his breath and that he was weaving all over the road.

Instead of turning into Lawrenceville, the man continued driving, turning up Washington Road to Princeton. On Sycamore Street he stopped the car, where the victim told police that she pleaded with him to get out and leave her alone. Instead he said, "Come here" and grabbed her arms.

She started to scream she continued, and jumped out of the car. She finally was able to convince the man to leave. She then called Township police and reported the incident.

The suspect was described as white, 22-23, 5-9, thin, medium light complexion with curly, reddish-brown hair, wearing a dark jacket with red lining. During their ride, the victim said that he told her his name was "Frank" and that he was an unemployed sandblaster living in Lawrenceville. Sgt. Robert Heacock handled the investigation for Township police; Trenton police are also investigating.

SCHOOL BOND APPROVED
For Dutch Neck. Construction should begin in the summer on the $989,000 renovation and expansion of the Dutch Neck School. Voters in the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional School District last week approved the bond issue for the work by a vote of 430-135.

Bids for the expansion of the school, which will be converted from a middle school to an elementary, K-6 school, will be sent out in the spring. The construction would continue through the summer of 1975.

The renovated school will include a new media center, kitchen and dining room, and 10 new classrooms. Facilities for art and music instruction and physical education would be expanded and improved.

The school's pupil capacity will increase from 500 to 700 students. Fourth grade classes now attending the Maurice Hawk School and sixth graders at the Plainsboro School would be transferred to the renovated Dutch Neck School.

The renovation and expansion program was one of several alternatives considered by the Dutch Neck Project Task Force, a committee of 20 citizens including four Board members working with the school staff, administration and architect. Other possibilities considered included a new elementary school, at a cost of $3 to $4 million, and a new middle school, $4 to $5 million.

Detailed Brochure. The committee opted for the renovation of the existing Dutch Neck facility. The committee's thinking and the details of the proposal were spelled out in a comprehensive brochure circulated before the vote on the bond issue.

Board member Robert Duncan headed the committee. Board President Dean Borneheimer indicated satisfaction with the turnout, but expressed regret that bad weather may have caused some citizens not to vote.

Fund at 90 Percent
The United Fund-Red Cross campaign announced this week that it is within 10 percent of its goal, requiring some $61,000 to reach its quota of $635,000. Trustees have set January 31 as the closing date, and ask that any individual or firm unrepresented among the contributors send a check to the United Fund, P.O. Box 201, Princeton. Neighborhood and Special Gifts Divisions are short of their totals, and L.L. Vivian, Fund president, said that response from individuals in these groups can make the difference between success and failure. The overall goal is based on a careful review by the Budget Committee of the needs of the Fund's 20 member agencies, and if the quota is not met, all of them will face reductions in their operating expenses for the coming year.

NEW PLANNER CONTRACT

For Richard May. A deadline of June 30, 1974 has been written into the new contract negotiated with Richard May of Planners, Inc., the Princeton regional Planning Board consultant.

The new contract calls for completion of the housing report, planning for the Central Business District and a Master Plan for $16,400. This is $8,700 more than the original contract of $39,800.

Under the new arrangement, Mr. May will get 22.5 percent when he finishes the housing report; 18 percent when the CBD plan is completed; 49.5 percent when the Master Plan has been finished and the final 10 percent after Master Plan revision. The planner is also required to attend 20 meetings of the board.

"SISTER" IS DEAD

Players Comedy to Open. It's a comedy about what happens to an actress when the character she plays in a radio serial is written out of the script. "The Killing of Sister George" is the title, and it will open this Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church under the banner of Princeton Community Players.

Opening-night ticket holders are invited to a reception after the performance, so they can meet the cast and other members of the Players and maybe even decide to join. Performances of "The Killing of Sister George" will also be held this Saturday and Sunday and again Friday and Saturday, January 25 and 26.

Technicians assigned to this production include musicians, set designers, artists, and sound experts. Gordon Birrell has composed variations on "Applehurst Theme," as background music. Suzanne Kelley of New York's School of Visual Arts, has done the program cover drawing. Players' audiences will remember her backdrops for "Madwoman of Chaillot" and "Belle the Typewriter Girl."

Dirck Dimock, who has designed many Players' sets, has done this one as well (it's a London apartment in the late 1950s). Curt Hall is in charge of lights and sound. Ronny Hall and Nancy Labaw are in charge of such props as horse brasses, loving cups and even dolls.

Others behind the scenes are Libby Hopkins (publicity); Rusty Engelman and Dorothy Neri (front of the house) and Anne Bredon (Green Room mistress).

The Paper Chase is an entertaining and often insightful look at the first year of graduate school for a group of law students. The necessity of good grades (the "paper chase"), the pressure of work and the importance of teachers, and the total educational experience are neatly displayed.

There are two themes: the relationship between the aspiring student and the irascible, demanding professor, roles well acted by Timothy Bottoms and John Houseman, and the relationship between the student and his studies.

Right at the start, Bottoms is told that all that stuff about grades is true. It may only be a number or a letter but it determines salaries and futures. Class preparation is everything, the exam and term paper chase, the determination to know the answer if called on are deadly serious concerns no matter how silly they may seem. It must govern experience; even sex has to take a back seat.

On top of the pressure of study, Bottoms is faced with a master who is crabby, sarcastic and SHAPE UP, SON!

Brubeck to Brubeck. Whether the three Brubeck sons are spanked for a wrong note when they play with daddy hasn't been revealed in press notices, but the family plays together harmoniously enough to have appeared in concert for a whole year, and they will gather on McCarter's stage Saturday, January 26, at 8 for another family appearance.

It's Dave Brubeck, renowned in the jazz world for 20 years. With him will be three of his four sons, all of whom are accomplished musicians.

Darius, 26, is the oldest. He leads the Darius Brubeck Ensemble, with himself on keyboards. Danny, 17, is on drums. Chris---age unrevealed---sits in now and then. He once had his own group (New Heavenly Blue) and will be coming to McCarter.

The elder Brubeck's Quartet combined European classical music forms with jazz and new time signatures. The father-and-sons evening will feature both Dave's style of jazz, and the most contemporary of pop sounds.

CHORAL CONCERT SET
For University Chapel. The Denison Singers, a select mixed choral group from Granville, Ohio. It is the alma mater of Princeton President Dr. William G. Bowen.

BEETHOVEN
When Dichter Comes. Misha Dichter has chosen an all-Beethoven recital for his appearance at McCarter Theatre next Monday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Dichter will play the Sonata Op. 13, the famous "Pathetic," and the sonatas in G Major, Op. 14, No. 2; in B-flat Major, Op. 31 No. 3; in F Major, Op. 10 No. 2 and A Major, Op. 101.

...FOR CHILDREN
Live Music. Three, live musical performances will be given for Princeton's school children this week by Young Audiences, Inc.

The group then presents two motets which constitute the opus 29 of Johannes Brahms and The Festival Cantata, "Rejoice in the Lamb," by England's leading master Benjamin Britten. These will be followed by a "Credo for Peace," involving speaker and trumpet by American composer, Henry Brant, and three examples of the 19th-century tradition of shape-note hymnody from the American South.

The program concludes with a setting of the "Magnificat Canticle" for six-voice choir and soloists by the master of early Italian Baroque, Claudio Monteverdi. Egbert Fischer is the concert pianist.

Widely Traveled. By the end of this season, the Singers, founded in 1961, will have given more than 175 concerts in 17 states. Two years ago the group went on a seven-nation European tour. The group has also appeared in several radio and television programs both here and abroad.

THEY WILL SERVE
On Volunteer Boards. Princeton residents were named to various municipal boards and commissions in New Year's Day appointments. Vacancies still remain in both Borough and Township on some boards.

In the Borough, Dr. Dudley Hawkes, 166 Stockton, and Evelyn Geddes, 229 Mercer, were appointed to three-year terms on the Board of Health. Mrs. Geddes had been named in July to fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. J. Leonard Moore.

Denyse E. Reid, 26 Westcott Road, and Martha L. Stohlman, 11 Edgehill Street, were named to three-year terms on the Environmental Commission. One vacancy exists on the Commission.

J. Richard Whitley, 30 North Stanworth, and Sydney Taggart, 57 Cleveland Lane, were re-appointed to one-year terms on the Traffic Safety Committee, where there is still one vacancy. Anna Hofgesang, 20 Forester Drive, was re-appointed to four years on the Local Assistance (welfare) board.

Margery Claghorn, 43 Vandeventer, was named to three years on the Zoning Board. She had been appointed to fill out the term of Robert Sullivan, who resigned.

On the Joint Advisory Committee on Public Transportation, Alice Male, 76 Cedar Lane, was re-appointed to a three-year term and a new appointee, Irvin Urken, 416

Skating? Not Quite Enough Ice Yet

Princeton missed by a few hours this week having its first authorized ice skating on Lake Carnegie. R. Donald Barr, director of the Recreation Department which is charged with testing the ice, said Tuesday morning that there was about 3½ inches on the lake then. Had the day's temperatures remained below freezing they would have gone ahead, he continued, and allowed skating in the only authorized area—the portion of the lake between the Washington Road and Harrison Street bridges.

"But when we heard the temperature might go as high as in the 50s and would continue to be mild the next day," he said, "we decided it was better not to take any chances. It's difficult to clear the ice once you let skaters on it and we've learned from past experience that it can melt pretty fast."

Mr. Barr added that there has to be at least four inches of ice in the weakest spots before skating is allowed. "It takes," he said, "almost a week of sub-freezing temperature to form ice that thick."

When—and if—the cold returns, Mr. Barr said that the Recreation Department was all set to go. Last season there were only three or four days of skating on the lake—just a year ago this week.

Nassau, was named for the same period. One borough vacancy exists on this joint Borough-Township board.

Dan Dillon, 120 Prospect, was appointed to a three-year post on the Joint Commission on Aging, succeeding Mary Perone. Chandler Wentworth, 42 Linden Lane, was re-appointed for three years. One vacancy remains unfilled on this commission.

Alfred O. Campbell was re-appointed to three years on the Joint Commission on Civil Rights (one vacancy here) and Conrad Snowden, 184

Prospect, was re-appointed for five years to the Joint Public Library Board of Trustees. Mrs. Marilee Dean, 19 University Place, was named to a four-year post on the Joint Recreation Board. A five-year term on the Regional Planning Board was awarded to William H. Walker II, 168 Westcott Road. Frederick Bohen, 128 Fitzrandolph, will fill the unexpired term of Arthur P. Morgan, until January 1, 1976 and Mrs. Margen Penick, Elm Lane, will fill out the unexpired term of Robert van de Velde, to January 1, 1977. Michael Myers, 267 Hawthorne, will serve a one-year term on the Sewer Operating Committee.

Township. A few vacancies still remain on Township boards after New Year's appointments. One, a three-year post, is on the Zoning Board. William J. O'Shaughnessy, 35 Clover Lane, was named to a three-year term on the board. Golda Gottlieb, 24 Lake Lane, and Lynn R. Anderson, Lawrence Court, were both re-appointed alternates.

Barbara Lependorf, 640 Prospect, and Marjorie Smith, 78 Montadale, were appointed to three-year posts on the Board of Health. Mrs. Smith replaces Ellen Peterson, who is now a member of Township Committee. Dr. Melvin A. Benarde, 45 Cuyler Road, and Dr. Chester Peterson, 191 Mt. Lucas, were re-appointed for three years.

Max D. Blumenfeld, 39 Randall Road, and Beatrice Boyer, 190 Birch, were re-appointed to the Joint Commission on Civil Rights for three years. Martha Lamar, 6 Greenhouse Drive, was re-appointed for five years to the Planning Board and Jerome Rose, 21 Tyson Lane, was named to fill an unexpired term, ending Dec. 31, 1977.

Priscilla Weck, 41 Overbrook Drive, will serve three years on the Joint Public Transportation Committee, and Paul M. Lion, 91 Bertrand Drive, was re-named to a three-year appointment.

Martha Senseman, 222-A Harrison, was appointed to a three-year term on the Joint Commission on Aging, and Ruth Cherniss, 98 Battle Road, was re-appointed to a three-year term on that body. Ernestine Brown, 28 Birch, was re-appointed for two years to the Traffic Safety Committee. Another two-year appointment remains unfilled on that committee.

The Environmental Commission has three re-appointees. They are Rosemary O'Brien, 1051 Kingston Road; and Catherine Johnson, 420 Prospect, both of whom will serve three more years, and Mrs. Lamar from the Planning Board, who will serve one year as liaison.

Efficient Cooperation.

To the Editor of Town Topics: In view of recent published inferences of an uncomplimentary nature concerning volunteer agencies in Princeton, it is necessary to shine a public spotlight upon the remarkable inter-agency cooperation which produced the recent Senior Citizens' Health Screening.

It was a celebration of volunteerism, of humans beings working together at the highest personal and professional levels. 1973 and 1974 have been invested with enough of the grim Let us, together, take pride in this excellence.

Throughout the Screening negotiations, the Commission on Aging has stressed that this is a joint effort, with no single group deserving credit for its success. For example, without the Council of Community Services, a United Fund Agency, which turned over its entire Health Committee to us, and donated untiringly of their skill, time, and vital duplicating equipment, there would have been no Health Screening.

Both Boards of Health, the Health Officers and their staffs labored unceasingly, tactfully and happily for the common goal. They also supplied the funds which made the $5 fee a reality.

Kiwanis members provided devoted transportation in the torrential downpour which served only to glorify efforts December 9. The Medical Center--Administration, Board of Trustees, Medical and Dental Staff, Nurses, Technicians, Secretaries, Maintenance Personnel--cooperated with professional excellence, and personal warmth.

The Interfaith Council, individual Pastors and their staffs, and the many social clubs for older Princetonians generously announced and explained this new concept in preventive health in the two weeks we had available for publicity. Personal talks with each Screening Participant revealed that every aspect of the media, whose coverage of this Health First in Princeton was outstanding, had contributed to their arrival for the Screening.

Even the participants were phenomenal; all but one of those registered arrived on time, each having followed thoroughly his Registration Instruction concerning lab samples, diet and personal history. I have never seen reliability of that calibre in any other undertaking.

Even with this extensive list of Co-operatives, I know individuals whose hours of quality assistance deserve deep gratitude, though they expect none. Community volunteers who gave up that Sunday for their neighbors are to be thanked profusely, and their families who shared them with us.

The Screening of '73, and those planned for '74, exemplify the highest goal of the Commission on Aging: a return, well-deserved, from the entire community of Princeton, of a service to our older neighbors, who have preserved this Princeton of which we are justly proud. The essence of the Screening concept is co-operation; its legacy, gratitude and better Health in retirement years.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I feel it is important to respond to the recent attacks against me in Letters to the Editor, not because of any personal need, but because I would like to ease the fears of our West Windsor residents.

INTRODUCING THE MONEY SHOP.

WHERE YOU GET LOW-COST BANK LOANS WITHOUT HAVING TO GO TO A BANK.

Franklin State Bank announces a new kind of service in Princeton: an office designed to make it easy for you to get low-cost bank loans and absolutely free financial consultation.

Let's say you need a student loan. Car loan. Home improvement loan. Mortgage loan. Even a line of credit for your business.

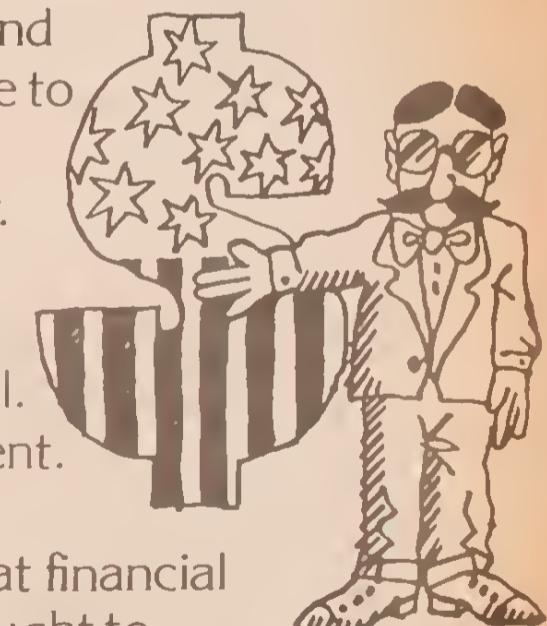

Come to the Money Shop at 20 Nassau Street. You'll find a friendly banker who'll help you decide how big a loan you need. Which are the best terms for you. Whether it's to your advantage to consolidate your loans.

Then he'll help you fill out your loan application and have an answer for you within four hours. Once your loan is approved he'll even set up a free checking account for you.

We've even designed our hours to be convenient. From ten in the morning till six at night Monday to Thursday. From ten to eight on Friday. And from nine to five on Saturday.

Helpful.
Convenient.
Friendly.

It's what financial service ought to be like. And it's the kind of service you'll find at the Money Shop.

Environmental Commission meeting as being the person who made the motion to recommend that the Township Committee seek an injunction against the construction of the Macy's Mall on Quaker Bridge Road and Route 1. Macy's Mall is the raison d'être for the "Super City" district which is found on the County's proposed Master Plan.

This motion for injunction is the first public action, and indeed appears to be the only action ever taken by officials of this Township to counter the projected "Super City." Without the Macy's Mall there would be no reason for the other intense development of the area. Macy's supplies the core of this proposed "Urban Node."

Constant Distortion. I feel singularly blessed to have the opportunity to place my position on the public record. Ingrid Reed never had this opportunity, and because she

SECOND STORE OPENED

By Prep Shop, I'd always wanted another store." These were the words of Walter Servis as he proudly showed us around the Prep Shop's spacious new branch store at the Grand Union Shopping Center on Route 206 North.

Mr. Servis chose this new shopping center because it is near enough to town for most of his customers and yet has lots of free parking, which eliminates frequent unhappiness over a parking ticket. He also feels that Princeton does not draw many customers from North of Route 518, and hopes that the Prep Shop will be able to tap some of this market that presently must drive to Short Hills.

The new store which opened the day before Thanksgiving (and is 25 percent larger than the main store on Palmer Square, has a convenient rear storeroom). While the merchandise at both stores is identical, at the Route 206 store the clothing is arranged by size versus item.

For instance all the junior jackets, pants and shirts are together, with the young men's and prep sizes elsewhere. Naturally, Mr. Servis has found this perfect for coordinating clothes.

The Prep Shop plans to continue carrying Mighty Mac, Robert Bruce and private label clothing, and currently there is a sale on many of these items. Junior sportcoats that include navy blazers and tartans are $25, and machine washable shetland sweaters in many luscious colors are $10 for the boys and $12 for the men's.

Mr. Servis told us that people do not ask for outerwear when they come in the store, but instead request the Mighty Macs. These jackets and coats are so indestructible that they can last through several tough boys, and at the moment they are 35 percent off.

Cruise wear. If you are lucky enough to be heading south this winter, the Prep Shop has some handsome cruise wear. We saw white ducks, solid red or blue, striped seersucker and patchwork madras pants, $14 and $16. For casual wear, these can be topped by short-sleeved durable press polo shirts in a range of colors, $5 and $6.50.

For more formal occasions there are madras and striped seersucker (blue and white or red and white) sportcoats, $30 top $55. Then for the young men, there is a handsome red and navy check on a white background in a dacron and wool blend that is perfect for a chilly southern evening, sizes 35 to 42, $60.

We also saw bermuda shorts and bathing suits galore. From California there are canvas surfer suits in flower and abstract prints with a faded look that is achieved by using the wrong side of the material, $12. The same surfer style also comes in solids.

The bathing suits by Robert Bruce include Hawaiian prints, a navy or red check in a knitted fabric, and basketball trunks with piping and a double stripe down the side, $6 to $10.

While the store primarily sells to boys and young men, Mr. Servis told us that some of his best customers are girls. Their favorites are the corduroy pants, shetland sweaters, flannel shirts and the yellow, white or blue cotton terry bathrobes, and it's not hard to see why they come here.

The Prep Shop's two stores are open Monday through Saturday from 10 until 5:30, and the Route 206 Store has additional hours Thursday and Friday evenings until 9.

COLLECTION EXPANDED

By Country Workshops. More than 200 new pieces of smoothly sanded and ready-to-finish maple and walnut furniture have been added to Country Workshop II's existing collection. The range of sizes is now voluminous making almost any wall or room arrangement possible.

Country Workshop, a Newark based firm, has been making hardwood furniture for over 20 years. While walnut and other woods can still be ordered, the firm recently switched to a full maple production, and this enabled Country Workshop II to carry the whole basic line for the first time.

Some of the new features include the choice of cane doors on the hinged-door cabinets, and sliding door cabinets that can stand or be hung on a wall with a choice of masonite, glass or wooden doors. This sliding door is less expensive beginning at $41 and thus provides the customer with more alternatives.

The store now has campaign chests, bunk beds, storage headboards, hanging desks to be worked into a wall unit, bookcases that are 9 inches deep in addition to the standard 12-inch ones, hanging open bookcases, and a kingsized storage bed.

There is quality construction in this furniture with panels that have been glued under high pressure and temperature, and drawers that are dovetailed, center guided and reinforced with glue blocks. The economical feature of this line is in the finishing, which you do yourself, rather than in the construction.

As the furniture arrives from the factory it is beautifully smooth, and ready for an oil finish, varnish, stain or enamel. The store stocks some of each finish, answers questions, and supplies a sheet of instructions. While additional sanding is not required, it is suggested to bring out the grain of the wood.

Country Workshop II continues to have the Thonet Bentwood side chairs and rockers. An unfinished chair with a hardwood seat is $24, and the walnut one with a cane set is $30.

We also saw the striped butcher block tables that can be custom ordered on oak, maple or walnut in any size. A walnut and oak table 30 by 60 inches costs $138, and there is a choice of bases, beginning with a chrome pedestal for $30. Other choices are an "H" base, wooden pedestal and a leg and apron.

Located on U.S. 1 (next to the Prince Theatre), Country Workshop II is open Monday to Friday from 12 until 5 with Thursday evening hours until 9, and Saturday from 10 until 5.

BARGAINS IN CLOTHING

At Outgrown Shop, a Princeton institution, the Outgrown Shop has been providing bargain prices in good, second-hand clothing for more than a quarter of a century.

A clearing house for everything from tennis shorts to tuxedos, the store is just the spot for the child who is out of one size and into another from one year to the next.

Mrs. Addie Taylor, who has been affiliated with Princeton Day Schools for over 30 years, became store manager last summer and now enjoys seeing some of the children she once knew working as a volunteer mother.

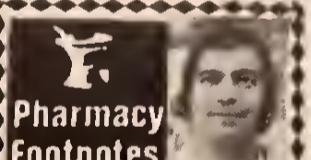

With the aid of a committee she efficiently runs the shop guided by some strict rules. For example, only clean clothes in good condition are accepted—meaning no broken zippers, spots or moth holes. The shop tries to follow the maxim that its clothing is merely outgrown, not out-worn.

Clothing may be donated or left on consignment, and delivery day is on Mondays only. From a shoppers point of view, out-of-season clothing is not accepted and the prices are extremely reasonable.

Although shoes are not sold here, ice skates are and they are virtually a Princeton tradition. The day we were there, one of the many bargains included white figure skates by Hyde in a size one for a dollar.

We saw clothing for infants to grandparents including maternity clothes, evening gowns, overcoats and even a wedding dress in a size 8, $20. Looking through the racks we saw a woman's black and white houndstooth double-breasted blazer, a girl's pale blue coat with red piping, boy's white tennis shorts, and many polo shirts and sweaters, 25 cents to $10.

The Outgrown Shop, which is operated for the benefit of the Princeton Day School's Scholarship Fund, has been housed in several locations over the years and as of last summer is located at 234 Nassau Street behind J.B. Redding and Sons. Currently, the shop is having a half-price sale, but will shortly be thinking Spring and contributions for the coming season would be welcomed. The store is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 until 3 p.m.

Toddlers are wonderful, but houses must be child-proofed before a toddler could live in them safely. There is nothing more frightening than to watch a baby choke on some object that he should not have been able to reach in the first place. Sometimes this is unavoidable however, and when choking does occur, immediate action is the best remedy. Place the child with shoulders hanging down, and slap vigorously between the shoulders. If you can see the object grasp it with the fingers.

THE FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon offers a great variety of baby needs including pampers and pins, powders and lotions, vitamins and formulas... We sell Sacrolum bar and trusses... Home fittings may be arranged. Phone 921-7287.

ART

In Princeton

THE WINTER SCENE
At University Museum. The study and appreciation of Chinese art is usually considered to be the privilege of the connoisseur or scholar. Since most of the art is based upon traditional motifs, and the techniques and symbols involved often encompass centuries of history, it is often assumed that without prior knowledge it is not possible to enjoy this delicate and intricate art form.

The present display of Chinese art at the Princeton University Art Museum is proof that truly beautiful things will give pleasure and share their values with the uninitiated as well as the sophisticate. This collection of brush paintings, including manuscripts and scrolls can be appreciated as art, history and, indeed, as scholarship.

The subjects are traditional and include flowers, landscape, and some figurative work. Within this narrow range of subject and style there is great richness of presentation and technical variety.

Similar themes by different artists take on very different effects in the use of line and color. Rich tonal washes of delicate greys complement finely-wrought textural clearly-written and easily-patterns created by leaves, read descriptions of the art, grasses and water surface. The delicate works are fraught with exciting contrasts. Strong dark lines play against soft shadows, gentle color heightening definite patterns. Plain surfaces work against intricate design.

FROM CHINA: Early 18th-century China (approximate date) produced the scroll, "Orchard, Bamboo and Rock" by Tao-Chi, from which this detail is taken. The work is on view in the University's Art Museum.

The display is heightened by artists and techniques, giving the display an extra dimension of enjoyment.

At Susuki. The death of Davis Siquieros last week marked the end of an era of painting in Mexico. Siquieros was the last survivor of the three major political revolutionary painters of the century.

Together with Orozco and Rivera, Siquieros devoted his life to the portrayal of human suffering and anguish and to the illustration of the exploitation of the Mexican masses. He also worked for political change outside of his art. Several jail sentences and a period of exile were included in the career of this son of a wealthy lawyer.

Among his last works is a series of lithographs now on view at Susuki. The series is dominated by symbolic figurative compositions in poses that suggest pain and anguish.

Freely-executed in several muted colors and black, the lithographs display the same sense of violent motion as the earlier, more literal work of this artist. However, there are great stylistic differences in this series in the loose forms soft lines and suggested silhouettes. There is much more of an interpretive portrayal than in earlier pieces.

At the Loft. A range of media is on display at the Loft for January. Oil paintings by Conrad Newman contrast with drawings by Marsha Kleinman, batik by Marion Knudsen and sculpture by Ulrich Frank. Each of the artists approaches his work in a distinctive fashion, often determined by the media used.

Batik work included literal subject matter as well as ventures into pure pattern. Colors are pleasingly com-

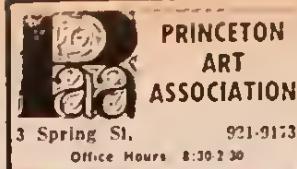

Metal and wood are used in Mr. Frank's creations. The sculpture adapts itself nicely to each material used.

The oil paintings are fairly literal representations of landscape, still life and portraiture. Paint is richly applied with judicious color balance.

Drawings by Ms. Kleinman include nature studies of both flowers and animals. The technique is classical in its effect. Highly realistic portrayals are sensitively constructed with delicate and expressive lines and heightened with subtle tonalities and textures.

At Galtary 100. American realistic paintings of the earlier part of this century at Galtary 100 recall a time of greater harmony and structure in life as well as in the world of art. Paintings that are considered academic landscape include harbors, snow scenes, forests and farms.

SIQUEIROS LITHOGRAPH: One of the last works by the late Mexican revolutionary painter, this print is part of a series of 12 at Susuki in Kingston.

Art in Princeton

Part of a collection of works by members of the National Academy and the American Watercolor Society, the paintings reflect the strongly traditional feeling that dominated the American art world. The effect is pleasing, both spiritually and technically as the focus is on bucolic harmonies, sunlight and shadow and developing technique and color to emulate the gentle effects of nature.

The works of American impressionists and their students are more carefully considered today than they were in the past and it is possible to appreciate the effects of these innovative painters upon American realism. Included in the display are works by George Tschamber, Max Hermann, John F. Carlson, Glenn Newell and Gustav Cimatti.

An exhibit of paintings by Rhoda Kassof is on display in the rear gallery. Ms. Kassof works in a heavy impasto style, applying her paint with a palette knife. The result is an impression of great movement and vigor created by her technique and its resulting textural effects.

Her approach is to convert her usually recognizable subject into larger volumes and develop a palette that works as strongly as the other elements in her work.

She is most successful using a clearly tone palette which works well with her painting style.

—Helen Schwartz

EXHIBIT AT HOSPITAL

By Naomi Polcuff. A one-woman showing of water colors, oils and graphics will open at 2 Sunday at Princeton Hospital.

The exhibit, sponsored by The Medical Center and the Princeton Art Association, will feature works by Naomi Polcuff. A public reception for the artist, whose works have been shown throughout New England, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, will be held from 2 to 4 in the hospital's main lobby.

Mrs. Polcuff, a graduate of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, has studied at the Art Student's League Summer Sessions, Woodstock, N.Y.; the North Truro School of Fine Arts, Cape Cod, and the Malden Bridge School of Fine Arts, New York. Her works have been exhibited in a number of one-woman shows and are included in private collections as well as the permanent collection of the Rensselaer Historical Society, Troy, N.Y.

Since moving to Princeton in 1972, she has held one-woman shows at the Present Day Club, Eye for Art and has been represented in juried shows sponsored by the Art Association. All works exhibited in the hospital are for sale by the artist.

CLASSES STILL OPEN

At Art Association. Because of the stormy weather, the Princeton Art Association postponed the opening of several of its classes and is still accepting registrations. The following classes still have openings:

"Sculpture" with Jeanne Pasley,

"Life Drawing" with Yvonne Burk,

"Design Your Own Jewelry" with Joan Weinstock,

"Relief Printing in Color" with Elizabeth Monath,

"Chinese Watercolor—Flowers" with I-Han Chiang, and

"Water Color with Vincent Ceglia."

Registrations are accepted by telephone. Call the PAA at 921-9173 for further information.

GORELEIGH ON VIEW

With Gilpin Portrait. Charles Gilpin, first black dramatic actor to perform on Broadway, is the subject of a portrait by Princeton artist Rex Goreleigh, now on exhibit at the Princeton Youth Center.

Mr. Gilpin's role was in John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln." He scored his greatest success in 1920 as Eugene O'Neill's "Emperor Jones," and for that performance, was cited by the New York Drama League as one of ten who had contributed most to the theatre in 1920.

He was founder, in 1916, of the Lafayette Theatre Company in Harlem. He died in 1930 and is buried in Lambertville, N.J.

SPORTS FANS!

Brought to you
By John Bernerd

Here's a basketball quiz you might have some fun with...In the last 25 years there have been a lot of professional basketball teams that have gone out of business--and many of them had colorful nicknames that we thought you might enjoy trying to match with their cities... For instance who were the Amigos, Muskies, Ironmen, Olympians, Huskies and Steamrollers? The Anaheim Amigos and Minnesota Muskies were in the American Basketball Association in its early years, and the following were in the National Basketball Association at one time--the Pittsburgh Ironmen, Indianapolis Olympians, Toronto Huskies and Providence Steamrollers.

Did you know that in three of the last five Super Bowls, the underdog won?...The favorite lost in 1969 (Colts), 1970 (Vikings) and 1971 (Cowboys).

Here's a tennis fact that's hard to believe...Did you know that when a good player serves, the ball travels more than 100 miles per hour!...And, recent tests showed that some serves by great players measured up to 160 miles per hour!

Did you ever wonder what would happen if your parents developed a chronic illness? It is a terrible thought, but our new $100,000 catastrophe accident and sickness insurance policy written without evidence of insurability would help.

Princeton Quintet Captures Two Ivy Games But Defeat by Penn State Drags It to .500

Able to dominate two Ivy teams in Jadwin Gym but defeated again on the road, where it has dropped five out of nine this season, Princeton's basketball team will be idle until Duke comes here Saturday night, January 26. The Tigers dominated Harvard and Dartmouth defensively to take over third place in the league standings but then saw their record drop to 7-7 for the year when they were beaten Monday at Penn State.

Princeton's basketball team, 8-6 and enjoying a three-game victory string, will not see action again until Saturday night, January 26, when Duke comes to Jadwin Gymnasium. The Tigers moved into third place in the Ivy standings last weekend with victories here over Harvard and Dartmouth and then won from Penn State on the road.

Save for three minutes at the start of the Harvard game Friday, they have played without their 6-9 center, Captain Andy Rimol. Torn knee cartilages are expected to heal before action resumes, a layoff scheduled to coincide with the term-end examinations now postponed by the long vacation created by the fuel shortage.

If the Orange and Black's play in the pair of Ivy games

KEY MAN: Junior Tim Van Blommesteyn came off the bench against both Harvard and Dartmouth to score a total of 29 points in pacing Princeton victories.

was rarely impressive, the performances by Harvard and Dartmouth were even less so. It was typical of the league's long history, however, that a Harvard team no better than 3-8 on the season managed to take Penn down to the final seconds at the Palestra before Penn is unsure of itself, as its close call Saturday on its own court indicates. Princeton, Brown and Harvard lack the take-charge ability to dethrone the Quakers, and Yale, Dartmouth, Cornell and Columbia are mired in mediocrity.

When Cornell nipped Columbia at Ithaca Friday by a single point on a buzzer shot, the outcome broke a six-game losing streak for the Ithacans and served as Columbia's ninth straight setback. In Jadwin Gym Saturday, Dartmouth dropped its eighth in a row and has yet to win.

A 63 percent shooting average in the first half kept Harvard in the lead during most of the early action, but as the Tigers finally began to move, the Crimson remained too deliberate in working for the good shot. The home team hit on 55 percent, making 33 attempts to 19 for the visitors, and used a 19-7 scoring discrepancy in the last nine minutes to take a 39-28 lead into the locker room.

Tim Van Blommesteyn, a 6-3, 165-lb. junior who took a 2.2 scoring average into the Harvard game with him, was a major factor in the victory over the Crimson and again the next night against Dartmouth. Despite the fact that he did not start either game, he was in double figures in both with 16 the first night and 13 the next. Floor shooting accuracy in excess of 60 percent, several steals and a degree of aggressiveness that rarely marked Princeton play this winter were all to Van Blommesteyn's credit.

It was a 63-49 final, with the losers never cutting into their 11-point half-time deficit and once trailing by 17 in the lowscoring contest. Despite their inability to make much of a game of it here, they have the potential to reverse the outcome when the teams meet again at Cambridge in mid-February.

The Crimson, incidentally, has record of close decisions this season that may well be unmatched anywhere in the nation. Of the dozen games it has played this year, no less

Who thinks about buying a pool at this time of year?

Very, very smart people.

Smart, because prices are at their lowest right now. Smart, because if they buy now they're guaranteed of swimming all summer long. Starting Memorial Day!

And smart people are finding out all they can now before they make that final decision. Like finding out about all the exclusive Sylvan features that help reduce maintenance to a bare minimum. And generally discovering that all pools are not alike. Most smart people find that the Sylvan differences can make all the difference in the world.

If you're close to making your decision, do what most smart pool buyers do. Talk to Sylvan. And talk now!

than seven have been decided by three points or less—three by two points and three by one. Six of them have gone the wrong way, leaving unanswered the question of how much sleep Tom Sanders, the ex-Boston Celtic, has lost over the mith-have-beens.

TDARTMOUTH GAME DULL.

And Poorly Played. The score of the Dartmouth game (67-49) was almost identical to that of the previous night, but there was little similarity otherwise. The Green has only two players of any ability—Bill Raynor and Adam Sutton scoring all but 10 of the losers' points between them. The losers shot no better than 37 percent and were charged with 24 turnovers.

The Tigers frequently allowed themselves to be pulled down to Dartmouth's level of play and could conceivably have become the visitors' first victim had not Tim Van Blommesteyn again often provided a vital spark. To add to the generally low tenor of the evening, the officiating was frequently wretched, both teams suffering from the weird calls.

The Green led for the seven minutes, trailed by no more than 30-25 at the half and remained within upset range (8 to 10 points) until less than two minutes remained. Then eight free throws on one-and-one situations plus a sleeper field goal by Armond Hill gave the Tigers a clear-cut margin.

Senior Joe Vavricka, who started the Dartmouth game because of Rimol's injury, marking the first time he has been in at the tap-off in more than two weeks, responded with 115 points, after having made 10 in a reserve capacity against Harvard. Both he and Van Blommesteyn are welcome bench strength, since the Tigers lack individual brilliance on this year's team. Only two of them—Rimol and Hill are averaging in double figures, and Rimol is high with 14.

the Princeton athletic scene. After the dismal final 20 minutes against Clarkson, during which the Orange and Black converted a 3-2 lead into a solid 7-3 defeat, the team left for Cambridge and Hanover. The identical 10-1 scores recorded against it by Harvard and Dartmouth are in all probability the most lopsided back-to-back trouncings absorbed by Princeton since the sport was launched here at the turn of the century.

Lone goals by Corky Powers in the first game and Mike Bascom in the second prevented shutouts. Harvard and Dartmouth, both in the thick of the 1974 Ivy race what with Cornell in trouble for the first time in nearly a decade, can hardly wait for their return engagements in Baker Rink.

The season began with only four seniors gone from last year's squad, an apparently strong freshman team joining Coach Jack Semler at the varsity level, and all sorts of optimism about the immediate future. It seemed justified at first, as victories were scored over St. Lawrence, Brown, Army and Providence in the early going—two of the triumphs on the road and one in overtime.

Then troubles began to mount in startling fashion. The offense was often outshot by a 2 to 1 margin, the defense fell woefully short of both smart and hustling hockey, and in the past week, the Tiger has simply come unstuffed as the players fail even to achieve respectability in defeat.

Yale was on the schedule at mid-week in a game at New Haven, one that was advanced because the original February date now falls with the term-end examination schedule. The next home appearance is Saturday afternoon, January 26, against Northeastern. The fact that eight of the last nine games are at home will be of small advantage to a team as bent on self-destruction as this one.

PHS FIVE IMPRESSIVE
Despite Loss to Ewing. A measure of how well the Princeton High School basketball team played last week against top-ranked Ewing—before losing 63-58, in the closing minutes—can be found in the ratings of the area teams. Despite the loss, PHS climbed from a tie for tenth place to eighth.

Ewing (9-0) remains in first place, followed by Trenton (8-1), Steinert (7-1), Florence, Bristol, Hunterdon Central and Holy Ghost. Princeton is 5-3.

Following this Wednesday's game here against Peddie (3:45), PHS will oppose two of the weaker teams in the Mercer County League—St. Anthony's Friday evening at 8 on the Iron Mikes' court, and Hamilton here Tuesday af-

Realigned Football Schedule for 1976
Has Tigers Opening Away from Home

Princeton football fans who like to think of heading for Palmer Stadium on the first Saturday of the season will find their way of life changed in the years ahead. Because of the earlier opening of classes and a generally revised academic calendar, the Tigers will play their first game on the road starting in 1976, and will continue to do so through the end of the current decade.

The opponents will alternate, first Cornell and then Dartmouth. Two years from now, for example, Princeton will travel to Ithaca to face Cornell on Saturday, September 18. The once-traditional first game with Rutgers will then be played here the following weekend.

Brown, usually the sixth team on the schedule, will come to Princeton Saturday, October 2, and the following week, the Tigers will play Columbia at Baker Field. Colgate is due in Palmer Stadium on Saturday, October 16.

The revision makes the final portion of the Princeton schedule particularly rugged, based on present-day strength of the remaining teams. Harvard and Penn will play here, the Tiger's will then take to the road for the third time to face Yale and will conclude their season-as early as November 13--against Dartmouth in the Stadium. The presence of Penn on the schedule between Harvard and Yale will mark the first time since 1946 that the Orange and Black has not played its Big Three rivals on successive Saturdays.

In 1977, Princeton will head for Hanover as early as Saturday, September 17. After playing host to Rutgers, it will then go to Providence to face Brown and in mid-schedule, will play Harvard and Penn away on successive weekends. That season, Cornell will be the final opponent in Palmer Stadium.

The first change in 26 years in the teams Princeton plays will occur in 1980. Army will reappear on the Princeton schedule in place of Colgate, the Tigers facing the Cadets for the first time since 1942.

doesn't bother me and I hope it doesn't bother him."

Vinee Ader dropped a decision in the next bout but Angelo Arcaro finally stopped the Larry tide in the 170-pound class by defeating the co-captain of the visitors, described by Murray as "the one considered to be their best wrestler." Arcaro, he said, "did everything but pin him."

Still, PHS was down by two, 21-19, with only two matches remaining. It stayed that way when Jeff Drummond battled to a draw in the 188-pound class to set the stage for Poling's dramatic pin.

"We were really happy with that," Murray concluded. "You always feel good when you beat a good team."

HUN EXTENDS STRING

With Two More Victories. Only a short time ago mired with a 3-3 record, the Hun School basketball team won its fourth and fifth straight victories last week over Newark Academy and Peddie. And if the Red and Black can find the one thing that coach Dave Leete says it lacks--consistency--Hun will be tough from here on out. "We've been playing good ball for two or three quarters; we have to be good for all four," commented Leete. "We're a team that can't seem to handle big leads."

Hun (8-3) will be at George School in Newtown, Pa. Friday evening at 8:15 and then entertain Lawrenceville School Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

This Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 Hun was scheduled to play Princeton Day School at home. The only loss the Panthers (7-1) have suffered this season has come at the hands of Hun in the Hightstown Christmas Tournament.

"I should think they would want to even things up," commented Leete early in the week. "We'll have to play good basketball to win."

SAVINGS ARE HIGHER
Up 18 Percent. Further growth, a gain of 18 percent in total savings up $6,385,165 to $41,840,213, was recorded by Princeton Savings and Loan Association in 1973.

Reporting on the Association's year-end Statement of Condition, William H. Boozer, Jr., president, noted that "Most of the increase was posted in the first half of the year as money market forces, reflecting soaring interest rates and a high level of consumer spending, severely distorted the flow of funds into savings institutions in the past six months. This nevertheless was our second largest growth year, following on the heels of the unusually large jump of $7,776,104 in 1972."

Assets rose 19.5 percent to a record $47,575,730. "We closed more mortgage loans in 1973 than in the previous year," Mr. Boozer said, "353 for $12,571,470, as compared to 337 for $11,616,550 in 1972. Higher down payments and a shortage of mortgage money prevailed in the second half. As usual, we did everything in our power to accommodate our customers." On December 31, the total mortgage portfolio stood at $42,082,821.

Princeton Savings also increased savings rates dramatically in 1973, and as a result, dividends paid to savers rose to a new high of $2,101,487. In addition, $270,553 were added to reserves, bringing the figure to $2,016,522.

The rate on Regular Savings accounts went up to 5 1/4 percent a year, with a new convenience of dividends paid from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, and a number of new, higher rate Savings Certificates were also introduced.

"Our new Lawrenceville office, opened in February, is contributing nicely to our progress, and we are proceeding with plans to open a larger, permanent facility at 2431 Main Street, to serve the community in 1974," Mr. Boozer said.

Looking ahead, he commented that these are "unsettled times which usually is translated into a higher level of personal saving by families in a quest for security. As the new year takes shape, this in turn, should mean greater availability of mortgage funds with a much needed resurgence in home building, particularly in the latter half."

Founded in 1917, Princeton Savings' main office is located at 132 Nassau Street.

the losers' home court.

Bystrzycki iced the win for Hun when he converted both throws off a crucial 1-and-1 situation with 24 seconds left. Hun won the game at the foul line where it enjoyed a 10-4 edge over Peddie. Bystrzycki accounting for eight of the 10. "We fouled the wrong guy," said Peddie coach Al Lozier.

3 LOSE FIRST TIME
In Adult Basketball League. Three teams suffered first defeats last week in the Princeton Recreation Adult Basketball League, and as a result, Medical Center is alone on top among the 11 with a 4-0 record.

Perks handed El-De's its first loss, combining Mark Baldwin's eight third-quarter points and some clutch foul shooting to fashion a 61-57 victory. Two free throws by Tony Cifelli with 12 seconds left iced the win. Baldwin and El-De's Willie Hill each had 16 points.

The next night Perks lost its first game when it found itself behind 20-6 in the early going before an inspired Kingston Wine & Liquor team. Bruce Coburn (24) and Bob Wylie (17) combined to lead Kingston to its 70-51 triumph. Baldwin had 22 for Perks.

Earlier, KW&L had lost its first game when Ivy Inn came from behind twice to register an exciting 57-52 win. Houston Hinson (14), Tom Michaud (14) and Mike Maguire (12) starred for Ivy, while Tim Kearns was high for the losers with 19. Maguire hit on two jumpers in the final 27 seconds to cement the win.

Princeton Medical Center took over first place with a 67-49 rout of the Librarians. PMC's Dennis Wilson, the league's leading scorer (35.5 avg.), poured in 38 points—13 in the second quarter to break the game open.

In other games, Conte's Bar won a pair, defeating the Triggers, 84-33, and the Hawks just as easily, 88-45; El-De's exploded for 28 points in the final period to topple Ivy Inn as former Princeton High player George Tucker had 17 and John Bailey added 23 for the victors; and Triggers won their first by defeating winless Nets behind the 16-point performance of Denny Reigle.

The standings: Medical Center, 4-0; Conte's Bar and Perks, 3-1; El-De's and KW&L, 2-1; Hawks and Ivy Inn, 2-2; Librarians, 1-2; Triggers, 1-3; Teachers, 0-3; Nets, 0-4.

PDS TO MEET BLAIR

will entertain Blair at home at 4 p.m., and next Wednesday afternoon, Morristown-Beard Games with teams like Lawrenceville, Peddie, Hamilton High School and Rutgers Prep are among those still to be played.

And this Wednesday afternoon, the Panthers were scheduled to play the one game on the schedule they would like most to win, a contest against nearby rival Hun. The two met earlier this season in the finals of the Hightstown Christmas Tournament, and the 60-50 Hun triumph has been the Blue and White's only blemish on an otherwise perfect record.

PDS added wins number six and seven with relative ease last week, knocking off Croydon Hall, 59-40, on Friday, and Solebury a day earlier, 71-48.

Croydon Hall, which won the State B. championship last year, the title the Panthers would like to capture this time around, was the loss through graduation of its all-state center. After leading by one, 14-13, at the end of the first period, the Blue and White outscored the visitors, 16-7 in the second, and never looked back.

Ron Webster led all scorers with 21, while Frank Konstantynowicz had 16, and Nick Brady, 10. Bill Martin and 6-6 Tom Dalrymple, who split the duties at center, both rebounded well.

The Panthers wrapped things up even earlier against previously undefeated Solebury, leading 16-7 at the end of the first stanza. A 31-11 halftime lead made the final two quarters superfluous. Konstantynowicz hit for 17, followed by Webster and Dalrymple with 15 apiece. Solebury's leading scorer, Croskey, who has averaged 26 points a game, did not play, but it is doubtful his presence would have changed the outcome.

The small camera that's better than most big cameras.

The CL is the smallest and lightest Leica ever made. It weighs just 17 1/2 oz with standard lens and measures only 3 inches high, 4 1/2 inches wide and 1 1/4 inches deep. Yet it is the first compact camera to offer full-frame 35mm format with viewfinder-coupled interchangeable lenses and through-the-lens metering.

Only Leitz could have created the CL, a true take-it-anywhere camera with all the precision and performance of a Leica. And of all compact cameras, only the CL has Leica's 50 years of leadership in 35mm photography behind it.

FRANKLIN MONEY SHOP TO OPEN: Come meet Sir Ben of Franklin. Grand opening festivities on Saturday for Franklin State Bank's first Money Shop at 20 Nassau Street will include an appearance by Sir Ben of Franklin, who will be on hand to welcome the public to the new Money Shop.

Bohen, Favoring Nixon's Resignation, Announces He Will Again Run for Congress from This District

Frederick Bohen, 128 Fitzrandolph Road, has again challenged Congressman Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen for the Fifth Congressional District seat. The district, in which Princeton is located, includes parts of Mercer, Middlesex, Somerset, Morris and Essex counties.

Mr. Bohen, a 36-year-old Democrat, polled 39 percent of the vote when he was defeated by Congressman Frelinghuysen two years ago. The Republican Congressman, now serving his 11th term, has not yet announced whether he will run for a 12th.

The challenger said, in a press conference held last week, that he was campaigning "as an unsparing critic of the incumbent's record and as an advocate of expanded Federal leadership in... mass transportation, education and other human services, land use planning and development." "If I had the Congressman's power and responsibility," Mr. Bohen declared, "I long ago would have called clearly and forcefully for President Nixon's resignation."

Mr. Bohen has already stated that he strongly favors impeachment. At his press conference, he added, "I believe the President has lost the trust of the people and most of his capacity to govern."

Turning to his 1972 platform, Mr. Bohen reminded his audience that two years ago, he had questioned "the Administration's inept management of the economy, its phased failure to curb inflation, its indifference to the human hardship of joblessness and its tolerance and protection of tax loopholes that only fat-cat industries and individuals can exploit."

It has generally been said that Congressman Frelinghuysen is unbeatable. The Fifth is a strongly Republican district. Aides of the Congressman have reported to Princeton officials that in the two years since Princeton was added to the District, Mr. Frelinghuysen has received a record amount of mail, largely from Princeton.

Appointed Charles J. Hunt, 28 Cuyler Rd. and Stuart Minton, 422 Snowden Lane to the Board of Improvement Assessors for two years each, and Hans C. Dohrn, 829 Princeton-Kingston Rd. to the Building Board of Appeals for five years. Ross C. Wilcox, 16 Ridgeview, was re-appointed to the Shade Tree Commission, and Lankford Bolling, 70 Harris Road, to fill a term expiring the end of 1975.

Ralph Phillips, 10 Monroe Lane, will join the Citizens Advisory Council on Housing for a three-year term, and Ceton residents who do not agree with his views.

Mr. Bohen said he does not regard his opponent as invulnerable. "I believe Congressman Frelinghuysen and other career office holders who see-no-evil, hear-no-evil and speak-no-evil will meet an aroused electorate sickened by the lawless behavior that seems to saturate politics and government," he declared.

For his own part, the new candidate told the press that he is in favor of gas rationing, wants to "get the facts on the table" before supporting an excess profits tax for the oil industry, believes the United States should continue its "solid historic commitment to Israel" without bowing to Arab oil-embargo threats and would oppose a resumption of bombing in South Vietnam.

Mr. Bohen announced that he will leave his $40,000 a year full-time job as director of news and public affairs for Channel 13 (WNET-TV) and will do part-time work for the channel, working on program development for the future.

A graduate of Harvard in government studies (magna cum laude), Mr. Bohen holds an advanced degree in economics and public policy from Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. His wife, Haly, is assistant dean of students at Princeton. The Bohens have three daughters.

Lester V. Chandler, 88 Westerly Road, will serve another three years on that body. Lee C. Cleveland, 168 Meadowbrook Drive, will serve another year on the Joint Sewer Operating Committee and as Township representative on the joint committee regulating the Montgomery Township, Rocky Hill, Princeton Township sewer.

News Of The CHURCHES

NEW SYNOD CREATED

By Presbyterians. No less than any other organizations, churches are subject to internal differences of opinion and spirited debate. That fact was underlined last weekend in Newark, when the United Presbyterian Church established a new regional governing unit, the Synod of the Northeast.

With three Princeton residents participating in the meeting, and serving as commissioners of the new Synod, the church combined the former Synods of New York, New England and New Jersey into one governing body. Then the nominating committee of the national church placed the name of a Leonia, N.J., pastor into consideration for the position of moderator.

But Dr. Conrad H. Massy, a Rochester, N.Y., pastor and a former assistant professor at the Princeton Theological Seminary, was nominated from the floor. He defeated the nominating committee's candidate, 113-80, to become the first moderator of the new Synod.

Those participating from Princeton were the Rev. Floyd N. Rhodes, Jr., pastor of the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church; the Rev. C. Raymond Trout, Monmouth Rose-Rocky Hill Road, serving as a commissioner from Monmouth Presbytery; and Miss Betty Katen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Katen, 38 Broadripple Drive, and a student at Princeton High School.

PASTORS REUNITE

At Witherspoon Church. This Sunday's 10:30 worship hour will be a reunion for the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church and two of its former pastors.

The Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, pastor at Witherspoon Street from 1949 to 1964, will deliver the sermon, "Mamma's Boy and the Playboy." Mr. Anderson is now pastor of the Richardson

BULLETIN NOTES
Kermit and Eartha Nash, members of the Unitarian Church of New Haven, Conn., will be the worship leaders at the Unitarian Church of Princeton this Sunday at 10. Mr. Nash is the clinical director of the Connecticut Mental Health Center and his wife, Eartha, is a teacher of English, French and Spanish. Together they have created a service involving music and drama that is presented as a dialogue on humanism.

The Sunday morning Rector's Forum, which meets from 10:10:50 in Pierce Hall of

Memorial Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia

Also present Sunday will be the immediate past pastor of the church, the Rev. Harold A. Thomas, now pastor of the Linwood Presbyterian Church in Kansas City, Missouri. He was pastor at Witherspoon Street from 1965 to 1971. Mr. Thomas is in Princeton for a three-week study-seminar at the Princeton Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Floyd N. Rhodes Jr. is the current pastor of Witherspoon Street Presbyterian.

DATING TALK PLANNED

At Jewish Center. Dating and Sex is the topic for this month's discussion in the Adolescent and the Jewish Family series for teenagers and parents. The meeting will be Sunday from 8:10 p.m. at the Princeton Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

Speakers will be Rabbi Hershel Matt of the Princeton Jewish Center, and Dr. Kenneth Gould, adolescent and child psychiatrist. Dr.

Gould, a former pediatrician, is psychiatric consultant to the New Brunswick and Edison public school systems, and is a member of the faculty of Rutgers Medical School.

Following these short presentations, informal small group discussions will enable all to participate as fully as they wish in the discussion.

Group leaders will include Dr. Lew Gantwerk, school psychologist for the Princeton Middle School; Sharon Powell, former multi-age teacher in the Princeton Middle School; and either Janet Wright or Mark Karsel, group workers for Corner House, a mental health facility in Princeton.

Obituaries

Trinity Church, this week will discuss "The Mideast Conflict-A Jewish Perspective," with Rabbi Hershel Matt of the Jewish Center.

The forums for the next three weeks will consider the feminist movement in the church and society. Other series will discuss chemical dependency in contemporary culture and death and resurrection.

Sunday morning services at the Lutheran Church of the Messiah are now at 8:30 and 11 Sunday school and adult education are held at 9:30. The church is located at 407 Nassau Street.

Obituaries

The 58 members of the Princeton University community who died during 1973—including faculty, students, staff and trustees—will be memorialized at the annual Service of Commemoration Sunday at 11 in the University Chapel. The Princeton community is invited to attend.

The service will be conducted by the Dean of the Chapel Ernest Gordon. The Rev. Robert K. Hudnut, of the Class of 1956, an alumni trustee of the university, will preach. President William G. Bowen and representatives of various segments of the university community will participate in the service.

Music will be by the Chapel Choir under the direction of Professor Walter L. Nollner, Director of Music for the Chapel.

COME LOOK US OVER!

What a great place to be together! Kingsbury offers you the contentment and privacy you want when you want it... but we're also right in the middle of things when it comes to shopping convenience, recreational facilities and fun people to live near. Our one, two and three-bedroom apartments are open for your inspection.

One thing is certain... Kingsbury means convenience. If you work for the state, county or city you can walk to work. If you work in Philadelphia or New York, Kingsbury is a two-minute drive from the Penn-Central Station.

You get all this at Kingsbury:

- All utilities
- Central air-conditioning
- Master TV antenna
- 24-hour security
- Resident manager
- Parking facilities
- Breathtaking view

REAL ESTATE

MODERN-DAY MANOR

A truly gracious traditional residence, custom-built for its present owners to demanding specifications. The handsome entrance hall has beautiful marble floor and a striking circular stairway. There are formal living and dining rooms; the library, with lovely dark solid panelling, has plenty of bookcases, a wonderful built-in bar and a view of the rose garden. The four bedrooms are light, spacious, and attractive. Two-and-a-half baths plus sauna—terrific kitchen—in Lawrence Township.

JUST A FEW OF OUR NEW LISTINGS THIS WEEK!

"HIGHFIELD FARMS"

Goat Hill Road
West Amwell Township

Steeped in the historic tradition of the Delaware Valley, dating back to years before the American Revolution, here is a choice spot high on a famous hill with a sometimes view of the river, and completely isolated from its neighbors. Within a short distance of Lambertville and Bucks County, twenty-four minutes to Princeton, and commutable to New York via Trenton or Hopewell, this property boasts everything near and dear to lovers of authentic STONE colonials: Slate and tin roofs, wide window wells, walk-in fireplaces, brick kitchen floor, cozy rooms, quiet nooks, random pine floors, small window panes, yet with all modern conveniences.

Four bedrooms, three baths, two parlors, library, conversational kitchen, and utility room complete the main house. A frame barn in very good repair features a heated studio room, carriage shed, and a four-room apartment ideal for guests or income! Just the right amount of land...thirty-eight acres enhance the property with meadows, pastures, brook and woods. It's one acre minimum residential with approximately 1300 feet of frontage. Taxes are just a wee bit above two thousand dollars!

Please call for an appointment and walk back into history with us to a time when houses were houses and people enjoyed tranquility. $165,000

EASY LIVING ON A BEAUTIFUL PRINCETON ACRE—AND ALL ON ONE FLOOR! At the edge of the Western section in the land of larger houses and huge lots, here is a unique opportunity for a comfortable life! Completely renovated and beautifully decorated just a few years ago, it is ready for a new owner to turn the key and move right in! Spacious foyer, living room/bay window and fireplace; dining room/bay; panelled den or family room with sliding doors to the garden; "Chocolate Shoppe" kitchen with new dishwasher; utility room with Westinghouse stacked combination washer/dryer; three really large bedrooms and two and a half baths. Many extras include: central air conditioning, cedar lined closets, firesprinkler and security alarm, extra garden well, two electronic garage door openers, lots of lovely carpeting, and best of all, a simply lovely piece of land with many mature shrubs and trees for complete privacy. A joy for us to show and you to see! $95,000

UNBELIEVABLE, BUT TRUE A SECLUDED CONTEMPORARY ON FIVE WOODED ACRES WITH A POND AND BROOK IN PRINCETON! Really a rare opportunity in this area living room with tiled fireplace, dining area, comfey kitchen, study with built-ins, family room with fireplace, master bedroom and bath, two other bedrooms and full bath. Because the owner is a car buff, there is a tremendous three car detached garage with steel bar joists, work bench and shelves. A separate two acre building lot is also included in the asking price of $128,000
